COVID-19 RESURGENCE SHOULDN'T DISTRACT FROM THE POSITIVES

We believe AT shares still have substantial recovery upside as the pandemic plays out. Aroundtown stock was routed last year as covid-19 fears triggered questions about the resilience of the commercial portfolio. Although surging infection numbers and questions about new mutations of the corona virus make predictions about a return to normalcy difficult, we believe the concerns about AT's ability to weather the pandemic have been answered and think the stock will continue its strong recovery in 2021. We reiterate our Buy rating and €8.6 price target.

Reasons to be optimistic We see several factors that support our optimism: (1) best in class capital structure with high liquidity after recent issuances; (2) operational resilience despite the drag of the hampered hotel portfolio; (3) an optimised portfolio with good embedded reversionary upside thanks to €2.7bn in disposals of non-core and mature assets in 2020; (4) an uptick in business travel and domestic tourism in Q3 assuming no worst case scenario on recent covid-19 / vaccine developments; (5) WFH (work from home) fears of a complete disruption of the office sector continue to fade; and (6) opportunistic acquisitions to further strengthen the portfolio. Although the ability to travel remains the wild card in the equation, we believe the stock will recover regardless of the timing of hotels coming fully back online (see overleaf).

Balance sheet looks stronger than pre-pandemic levels Thanks to a series of issuances, we estimate AT's liquidity at around €3.8bn. This compares to YE19 cash and liquid assets of €3.0bn. While several commercial rivals have struggled to refinance debt or raise new equity during the pandemic, Aroundtown was able to inject some €1.6bn in new low cost liquidity into its balance sheet the past months. In December, the company placed a €1bn bond at 0.0% to repay some €0.6bn in 1.5% bonds and issued 1.625% perpetuals notes for €0.6bn in January. AT also bought back €230m of its 3.75% hybrid notes in. . . (p.t.o.)

... conjunction with hybrid placement. The optimised capital structure will save the company some €9m in annual interest, which we have factored into our numbers along with the issuances and repayments. Full coffers give management plenty of flexibility to ride out the current lockdowns and react opportunistically to market developments in the year ahead.

Investor confidence is improving The company once again offered shareholders a scrip dividend in lieu of a €0.14 per share cash payout. Some 43% of shareholders (491m shares) opted for new shares at €5.19. In our view, this underlines expectations of a further recovery in AT's market value.

German office market less vulnerable than other markets to WFH trends Office rent does not account for as high a proportion of corporate overhead in Germany as in other European metropolises. German office rents are much cheaper than Paris, Madrid and London, meaning corporates have less to gain in overhead savings by whittling down office space. This fact is beginning to be better understood by the capital markets, and we expect the drag on sentiment to continue to dissipate.

German hotel market ranks among least volatile in Europe Even if tourism remains limited to domestic travel this summer, this plays into the strength of Aroundtown's hotel assets which have historically catered to domestic getaway seekers (> 80% of German and UK hotel bookings; >60% of Netherlands). Plus, our checks with industry medical experts support optimistic views on the efficacy of the vaccine, although new mutations out of South Africa for example remain an unknown factor. This could boost long-haul travel later in the year.

VALUATION

We see several triggers for further stock recovery this year. The stock trades at a highly attractive 63% discount to 9M/20 NAVPS (€9.3). While the re-opening of hotels could supercharge the share price, we do not believe the upside hinges solely upon a full recovery of the hospitality sector this year.

In our view, AT has demonstrated its ability to steer through the pandemic. If the current resurgence persists longer than we all hope, we have a high degree of confidence in management's ability to adapt to the unknowns that lie ahead this year. We remain Buy-rated on AT with an €8.6 price target.

The recommendations determined in accordance with the share price trend anticipated by First Berlin in the respectively indicated investment period are as follows:

| Category                |                                        | 1             | 2           |
|-------------------------|----------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|
| Current market          | capitalisation (in €)                  | 0 - 2 billion | > 2 billion |
| Strong Buy <sup>1</sup> | An expected favourable price trend of: | > 50%         | > 30%       |
| Buy                     | An expected favourable price trend of: | > 25%         | > 15%       |
| Add                     | An expected favourable price trend of: | 0% to 25%     | 0% to 15%   |

| Sell                    | An expected negative price trend of:   | < -15%        | < -10%      |

Our recommendation system places each company into one of two market capitalisation categories. Category 1 companies have a market capitalisation of  $\in 0 - \in 2$  billion, and Category 2 companies have a market capitalisation of  $> \in 2$  billion. The expected return thresholds underlying our recommendation system are lower for Category 2 companies than for Category 1 companies. This reflects the generally lower level of risk associated with higher market capitalisation companies.

RISK ASSESSMENT

The First Berlin categories for risk assessment are low, average, high and speculative. They are determined by ten factors: Corporate governance, quality of earnings, management strength, balance sheet and financial risk, competitive position, standard of financial disclosure, regulatory and political uncertainty, strength of brandname, market capitalisation and free float. These risk factors are incorporated into the First Berlin valuation models and are thus included in the target prices. First Berlin customers may request the models.
