Comeback of RE and performance fees around the corner; chg.

Topic: MLP released FY'23 preliminary results and surprised positively with Q4's better than expected real estate business. MLP also looks set to record performance fees in Q1 for the first time since 2021.

Q4 sales in line with estimates: Sales rose by 5% yoy to € 289m (eNuW: € 294m) with a strong impact from Old-Age Provision (€ 90m, 31% of sales; eNuW: € 102m), but also strong growth from Interest Income (€ 20.3m, +133% yoy; eNuW: € 19.6m), Non-Life Insurance (€ 39m, +22% yoy; eNuW: € 42m) as well as Wealth Management (€ 80m, +4% yoy; eNuW: € 91m). Surprisingly, the negative trend in Real Estate could be stopped, as Q4 RE sales came in much better than expected at € 26.2m, up 19% yoy (eNuW: € 5.1m), thanks to both Brokerage (€ 11.1m, +62.4% yoy; eNuW: € 3.5m) and Development (€ 15m; flat yoy; eNuW: € 1.6m).

Q4 EBIT in line with previously released PW: The positive impact from the interest result (€ 12.8m; +64% yoy; eNuW: € 13.5m) led to an overall Q4 EBIT of € 25.4m, up 9% yoy, while it was also burdened by a one-off goodwill impairment on a real estate subsidiary of € 4m.

FY'24e guidance conservative: The company guides for an EBIT range of € 75-85m (eNuW: € 89m; eCons: € 88m) for FY'24e, based on positive outlooks in Wealth as well as Life & Health. Upside could emerge from 1) a potential rebound in Real Estate (company guides "very positively"), which was already visible during Q4'23, and 2) highly profitable performance fees which seem to be likely in Q1'24e already. Both of FERi's largest public funds (EquityFlex & Optoflex) currently exceed the threshold to be eligible for performance fees and the record day (March 31st, last day of Q1) is close. Against this backdrop, management seems to guide conservatively, in our view.

Mid-term targets confirmed: By YE'25e, MLP aims to achieve an EBIT in the range of € 100-110m, based on its diversified business mix coupled with continuous growth and efficiency gains. This would imply an EBIT 23-'25e CAGR of 19-25%.

Overall, MLP's stock is too cheap to ignore at current levels, trading at historically low multiples. The SDAX uplisting on March 18th should also support the stock's trading volumes and visibility. Hence, we reiterate BUY and confirm MLP in the NuWay's Alpha List with unchanged PT of € 11.00, based on FCFY'24e and SOTP.

4. Information Concerning the Methods of Valuation/Update

The determination of the fair value per share, i.e. the price target, and the relevant rating is done on the basis of the adjusted free cash flow (adj. FCF) method and on the basis of the discounted cash flow – DCF model. Furthermore, a peer group comparison is made.

The adj. FCF method is based on the assumption that investors purchase assets only at a price (enterprise value) at which the operating cash flow return after taxes on this investment exceeds their opportunity costs in the form of a hurdle rate of 7.5%. The operating cash flow is calculated as EBITDA less maintenance capex and taxes.

Within the framework of the DCF approach, the future free cash flows are calculated initially on the basis of a fictitious capital structure of 100% equity, i.e. interest and repayments on debt capital are not factored in initially. The adjustment towards the actual capital structure is done by discounting the calculated free cash flows with the weighted average cost of capital (WACC), which takes into account both the cost of equity capital and the cost of debt. After discounting, the calculated total enterprise value is reduced by the interest-bearing debt capital in order to arrive at the equity value.

NuWays AG uses the following three-step rating system for the analysed companies:

Buy: Sustainable upside potential of more than 20% within 12 months

Sell: Sustainable downside potential of more than 20% within 12 months.

Hold: Upside/downside potential is limited. No immediate catalyst visible.
