

REA's first sustainability report published

REA's first standalone sustainability report relates to the calendar year of 2012 and has been produced in accordance with the requirements of Global Reporting Initiative (GRI). This report outlines the measures REA is taking to manage the aspects of sustainability that are considered to be of greatest relevance to REA's business and of most interest to the group's stakeholders. It also includes a number of key performance indicators which provide a baseline against which REA's economic, environmental and social performance can be monitored. It is the intention that REA will publish a sustainability report biennially.
