

Conservation education camps for local school children

REA's Conservation Department (REA KON) hosted 87 children from two of the REA group's primary schools at the REA KON field station. The children spent the weekend in the group's surrounding conservation reserves learning about the plants and animals that live there and the actions needed to conserve them. The REA KON community team also visited four primary schools in Muara Ancalong, an area where one of the more recent additions to the group's land bank is located.
