Further re preference dividend

As anticipated in the company's half yearly report published in September 2019, the half yearly payment on the preference shares that falls due on 31 December 2019 will be deferred. The half yearly payment on the preference shares that was due on 30 June 2019 also continues to be deferred.

The group is currently reviewing the budgets for the group for 2020 and their implications for the resumption of preference dividend payments in light of the recent rise in CPO prices. The conclusions regarding preference dividend payments will be announced in the company's next trading update expected to be released early in 2020.
